

↪ You are here: 🖐️ Prayers & Praxes —→ 🌞 Prayers for the Sun, Weekdays, Shabbat, and Season —→ Shabbat —→ Musaf I'Shabbat

□ (Previous category) :: 📖 Shaharit
I'Shabbat ul'Yom Tov

📖 Se'udat Yom Shabbat :: (Next Category)

Musaf I'Shabbat

Sorted Chronologically (old to new). Sort most recent first?

ברכת מקדש השבת למוסף | Birkat Meqadesh ha-Shabbat for the Shabbat Musaf Amidah amended with Hosea 14:3

In the period following the second destruction of the Temple in Jerusalem, rabbinic Jewish liturgy reified the teaching to replace sacrificial offerings with offerings of the lips (per Psalms 51:18) by directly quoting those verses from the Torah dictating those sacrifices. This formula is evident in the the blessing meqadesh hashabbat for the musaf Shabbat Amidah, in which the musaf offering is invoked directly via Numbers 28:9, while blessing

Hashem, hallower of the Shabbat. For this blessing, my havrutah Jonathan Schachter would remind those davvening with him musaf that they could follow the recitation of this verse with that of Hosea 14:3, our oldest scriptural witness to a counter-tradition of prayer as a surrogate for animal sacrifice. We offer this amendment to the Shabbat musaf Amidah as a corrective to the notion that the return of the Temple cult must necessarily bring a return of animal sacrifice and to bolster long extant Jewish traditions that regard with love and dignify with inclusion all those tame animals (behemot) within our shabbat boundaries as respected members of our community (find Deuteronomy 5:14).

Categories: Musaf l'Shabbat

Tags: עמידה amidah, animals, anti-predatory, domesticated animals, mekadesh hashabbat מְקַדֵּשׁ הַשַּׁבָּת

Contributor(s): Aharon N. Varady \(translation\) and Jonathan Schachter

נוֹן אֵי קוֹמִי לוֹדִיד | Non È Come lo Ded Nostro (אֵין כְּאַלְהֵינוּ נוֹשְׁטֵר) — a Renaissance Judeo-Italian translation of Ein Keloheinu (1483)

The text of the piyyut Ein Keloheinu from a 1483 Judeo-Italian translation of the siddur (British Library Or. 2443), along with a transcription into Italian script, a normative Italian modernization, and the Hebrew and English.

Categories: Musaf l'Shabbat

Tags: 15th century C.E., 53rd century A.M., addenda, אֵין כְּאַלְהֵינוּ Ein kEloheinu, Italian Jewry, Italian vernacular prayer, Nusah Italki, פִּיּוּטִים piyyuṭim, Roman minhag

Contributor(s): Unknown, Isaac Gantwerk Mayer \(transcription & naqdanut\) and Isaac Gantwerk Mayer \(translation\)

אין כאלהינו | A Polyglot Version of Ein kEloheinu

The mantra-like piyyut “Ēin k-Ēlohēinu,” a praise of God’s attributes and uniqueness featuring incremental repetition, is found in siddurim as far back as the siddur of Rav Amram, and may date back to the Hekhalot literature. Many versions of it have been compiled in different languages, most famously Flory Jagoda (זצ”ל)’s Judezmo variant “Non como nuestro Dyo.” Here the editor has compiled traditional Yiddish and Ladino translations, as well as developed new Aramaic and Arabic translations for this piyyut. The post-piyyut verses used in both the Ashkenazi and Sephardic rites have been included.

Categories: Yom Meturgeman, Musaf l'Shabbat, Addenda

Tags: 100 blessings a day, Aramaic translation, אין כאלהינו Ein kEloheinu, Judeo-Arabic, Ladino Translation, polyglot, Yiddish translation

Contributor(s): Unknown, Isaac Gantwerk Mayer (transcription & naqdanut) and Isaac Gantwerk Mayer (translation)

אין כאלהינו | Neniu Estas (נעניו עסטאס) — an Esperanto translation of “Ein k’Eloheinu” by Isaac Gantwerk Mayer

This is an original Esperanto translation of Ein K’Eloheinu, with a transcription using my own original Hebraization schema.

Categories: Musaf l'Shabbat, Addenda

Tags: constructed languages, אין כאלהינו Ein kEloheinu, Esperanto translation, פייטות piyyuṭim, זמירות zemirot

Contributor(s): Isaac Gantwerk Mayer (translation) and Unknown

קרובות למוסף שבת החודש | Kerovot for Musaf Shabbat haHodesh by Elazar ben Qallir

The poetic genre known as kerovot, brief poems woven throughout the repetition of the weekday Amidah, is nowadays most closely associated with Elazar haKallir's Purim "Krovetz", a majestically interwoven piece of piyyut if ever there was one. This is the traditional Ashkenazi qerovot added to the Musaf repetition for Shabbat HaHodesh, alongside a gender-neutral translation first made in 2022 but being posted here now.

Categories: Musaf l'Shabbat

Tags: 45th century A.M., 7th century C.E., acrostic, Alphabetic Acrostic, עמידה amidah, four special parashot, קרובות kerovot, פיוטים piyyuṭim, Public Amidah, שבת החודש Shabbat haHodesh

Contributor(s): Isaac Gantwerk Mayer (transcription & naqdanut), Isaac Gantwerk Mayer (translation) and Elazar ben Qallir

קרובות למוסף שבת שקלים | Kerovot for Musaf Shabbat Sheqalim

The traditional Ashkenazi qerovot added to the Musaf repetition for Shabbat Sheqalim, alongside a new gender-neutral translation

Categories: Musaf l'Shabbat

Tags: 11th century C.E., 49th century A.M., acrostic, Alphabetic Acrostic, עמידה amidah, קרובות kerovot, פיוטים piyyuṭim, Public Amidah, שבת שקלים Shabbat Sh'qalim

Contributor(s): Unknown, Isaac Gantwerk Mayer (transcription & naqdanut)
and Isaac Gantwerk Mayer (translation)

Adōn Olam, translation by Hakham Ishak Nieto (1740) (מנהג הספרדים) אָדוֹן עוֹלָם

Hakham Ishak Nieto's translation of Adon Olam was first printed on page 197 of Orden de las Oraciones de Ros-ashanah y Kipur (1740), his mahzor in Spanish translation for Rosh haShanah and Yom Kippur. The Hebrew text of the piyyut set side-by-side with the translation was transcribed from Rabbi David de Sola Pool's Tefilot l'Rosh haShanah (1937).

Categories: Bedtime Shema, Arvit l'Shabbat, Morning Baqashot, Musaf l'Shabbat

Tags: 11th century C.E., 49th century A.M., אָדוֹן עוֹלָם Adon Olam, cosmological, Nusah Sefaradi, פִּיּוּטִים piyyuṭim, Spanish Translation

Contributor(s): Ishac Nieto, Shlomo ibn Gabirol and Aharon N. Varady (transcription)

Adōn Olam, translation by Isaac Pinto (1766) (מנהג הספרדים) אָדוֹן עוֹלָם

This is Isaac Pinto's English translation of Adon Olam from Prayers for Shabbath, Rosh-Hashanah, and [Yom] Kippur (1766), p. 29. The translation there appears without the Hebrew. The Hebrew text of the piyyut set side-by-side with the translation was transcribed from Rabbi David de Sola Pool's Tefilot l'Rosh haShanah (1937).

Categories: Bedtime Shema, Arvit l'Shabbat, Morning Baqashot, Musaf l'Shabbat

Tags: 11th century C.E., 49th century A.M., עולם אדון Adon Olam, cosmological, Nusah Sefaradi, פיוטים piyyutim

Contributor(s): Isaac Pinto \(translation\), Shlomo ibn Gabirol and Aharon N. Varady \(transcription\)

(מנהג הספרדים) | אדון עולם | Adōn Olam (rhyming translation by David de Aaron de Sola, 1836)

Adon Olam is a piyyut that became popular in the 15th century and is often attributed to Solomon ibn Gabirol (1021–1058) and less often to Sherira Gaon (900-1001), or his son, Hai ben Sherira Gaon (939-1038). The variation of the piyyut appearing here is the 12 line version familiar to Sepharadi congregations. (There are also fifteen and sixteen line variants found in Sepharadi siddurim. The Ashkenazi version has ten lines.) The rhyming translation here by David de Aaron de Sola was transcribed from his prayerbook Seder haTefilot vol. 1 (1836), p. 122.

Categories: Bedtime Shema, Arvit l'Shabbat, Morning Baqashot, Musaf l'Shabbat

Tags: 11th century C.E., 19th century C.E., 49th century A.M., 57th century A.M., עולם אדון Adon Olam, cosmological, Nusah Sefaradi, פיוטים piyyutim, rhyming translation

Contributor(s): Aharon N. Varady \(transcription\), David de Aaron de Sola \(translation\) and Shlomo ibn Gabirol

אַדֹן עוֹלָם (אשכנז) | Adōn Olam (rhyming translation by George Borrow, 1842)

Adon Olam is a piyyut that became popular in the 15th century and is often attributed to Solomon ibn Gabirol (1021–1058) and less often to Sherira Gaon (900-1001), or his son, Hai ben Sherira Gaon (939-1038). The variation of the piyyut appearing here is the 10 line version familiar to Ashkenazi congregations. (There are also twelve, fifteen, and sixteen line variants found in Sepharadi siddurim.) The rhyming translation here by George Borrow was shared in his tales in The Bible in Spain (1843), p. 222. (The text in the 1913 edition on page 546 is a bit easier to read.)

Categories: Bedtime Shema, Morning Baqashot, Arvit l'Shabbat, Musaf l'Shabbat

Tags: 11th century C.E., 19th century C.E., 49th century A.M., 57th century A.M., אַדֹן עוֹלָם Adon Olam, cosmological, פיוטים piyyuṭim, rhyming translation

Contributor(s): George Borrow, Shlomo ibn Gabirol and Aharon N. Varady (transcription)

אַדֹן עוֹלָם (מנהג הספרדים) | Adōn Olam, rhyming translation by Rosa Emma Salaman (1855)

A rhyming English translation of Adon Olam by Rosa Emma Salaman.

Categories: Bedtime Shema, Morning Baqashot, Arvit l'Shabbat, Musaf l'Shabbat

Tags: 11th century C.E., 49th century A.M., ABCB rhyming scheme, חתימות Adon Olam, cosmological, free translation, חתימות hatimot \(concluding prayers\), interpretive translation, Nusah Sefaradi, Openers, פיוטים piyyuṭim, rhyming translation

Contributor(s): Rosa Emma Salaman and Aharon N. Varady (transcription)

אָדוֹן עוֹלָם (אשכנז) | Adōn Olam, translated from Rabbi David Einhorn's Olat Tamid (1858)

The German translation of "Adon Olam" appearing here is as found in Rabbi David Einhorn's עֵלֶת תַּמִּיד Gebetbuch für Israelitische Reform-Gemeinden (1858), pp. 1-2. The English translation here, by Joshua Giorgio-Rubin, translating Rabbi David Einhorn, is as found in Rubin's Olat Hadashah: A Modern Adaptation of David Einhorn's Olat Tamid for Shabbat Evening (2020), p. 14.

Categories: Bedtime Shema, Arvit l'Shabbat, Morning Baqashot, Musaf l'Shabbat

Tags: 11th century C.E., 49th century A.M., אָדוֹן עוֹלָם Adon Olam, cosmological, German translation, חַתִּימוֹת ḥatimot (concluding prayers), Openers, פִּיּוּטִים piyyuṭim

Contributor(s): Joshua Giorgio-Rubin, David Einhorn, Shlomo ibn Gabirol and Aharon N. Varady (transcription)

אָדוֹן עוֹלָם (אשכנז) | Adōn Olam, translated by Tsvi Hirsch Filipowski (1862)

The cosmological piyyut, Adon Olam, in its Ashkenazi variation in Hebrew with an English translation.

Categories: Bedtime Shema, Arvit l'Shabbat, Morning Baqashot, Musaf l'Shabbat

Tags : 11th century C.E., 49th century A.M., אָדוֹן עוֹלָם Adon Olam, cosmological, חַתִּימוֹת ḥatimot (concluding prayers), Openers, פִּיּוּטִים piyyuṭim, rhyming translation

Contributor(s) : Tsvi Hirsch Filipowski (translation), Shlomo ibn Gabirol and Aharon N. Varady (transcription)

אָדוֹן עוֹלָם (מִנְהַג הַסְפָּרָדִים) | Adōn Olam (rhyming translation by Jacob Waley, before 1873)

Adon Olam is a piyyut that became popular in the 15th century and is often attributed to Solomon ibn Gabirol (1021–1058) and less often to Sherira Gaon (900-1001), or his son, Hai ben Sherira Gaon (939-1038). The variation of the piyyut appearing here is the 12 line version familiar to Sepharadi congregations. (There are also fifteen and sixteen line variants found in Sepharadi siddurim. The Ashkenazi version has ten lines.) The rhyming translation here by Jacob Waley was transcribed from the prayerbook of his daughter Julia M. Cohen's The Children's Psalm-Book (1907), pp. 298-299.

Categories : Bedtime Shema, Arvit I'Shabbat, Morning Baqashot, Musaf I'Shabbat

Tags : 11th century C.E., 19th century C.E., 49th century A.M., 57th century A.M., אָדוֹן עוֹלָם Adon Olam, cosmological, Nusah Sefaradi, פִּיּוּטִים piyyuṭim, rhyming translation

Contributor(s) : Jacob Waley, Shlomo ibn Gabirol and Aharon N. Varady (transcription)

אָדוֹן עוֹלָם | Adōn Olam, translated by Rabbi Marcus Jastrow after the abridged arrangement of Rabbi

Benjamin Szold (1873)

An English translation of an abridged arrangement of the piyyut, Adon Olam.

Categories: Bedtime Shema, Morning Baqashot, Arvit l'Shabbat, Musaf l'Shabbat

Tags: 11th century C.E., 49th century A.M., אָדוֹן עוֹלָם Adon Olam, cosmological, חתימות hatimot (concluding prayers), Openers, פיוטים piyyuṭim

Contributor(s): Marcus Jastrow, Benjamin Szold, Shlomo ibn Gabirol and Aharon N. Varady (transcription)

(אשכנז) | אָדוֹן עוֹלָם | Adōn Olam (Romanian translation by Rabbi Dr. Moses Gaster, 1883)

Rabbi Dr. Moses Gaster's translation of Adon Olam in Romanian was first printed on pages 3-4 of Siddur Tefilat Yisrael: Carte de Rugăciuni Pentru Israeliți (1883), his daily Siddur.

Categories: Bedtime Shema, Morning Baqashot, Arvit l'Shabbat, Musaf l'Shabbat

Tags: 11th century C.E., 49th century A.M., אָדוֹן עוֹלָם Adon Olam, cosmological, Nusah Ashkenaz, פיוטים piyyuṭim, Romanian translation

Contributor(s): Moses Gaster, Shlomo ibn Gabirol and Aharon N. Varady (transcription)

(מנהג הספרדים) אָדוֹן עוֹלָם | Αδὸν Ὀλὰμ | Adōn Olam
(Greek translation by Yosef Nahmuli, 1885)

This is Yosef Nahmuli's Greek translation of Adon Olam from his bilingual Hebrew-Greek everyday siddur, Καθημερινὰ Προσευχὰι (Corfu 1885), p. 6-9.

Categories: Bedtime Shema, Arvit I'Shabbat, Morning Baqashot, Musaf I'Shabbat

Tags: 11th century C.E., 49th century A.M., אָדוֹן עוֹלָם Adon Olam, cosmological, Eastern Sefaradim, Greek translation, minhag Corfu, Nusah Sefaradi, ottom, פִּיּוּטִים piyyuṭim

Contributor(s): Yosef Nahmuli, Shlomo ibn Gabirol and Aharon N. Varady (transcription)

(מנהג הספרדים במזרח) אָדוֹן עוֹלָם | जो जगताचा स्वामि | Adōn
Olam in Marathi translation by Jospeh Ezekiel
Rajpurkar (1889)

The piyyut, "Adon Olam" became popular in the 15th century and is often attributed to Solomon ibn Gabirol (1021–1058) and less often to Sherira Gaon (900-1001), or his son, Hai ben Sherira Gaon (939-1038). The variation of the piyyut appearing here is the fifteen line version familiar to some Mizrahi and eastern Sefaradi congregations. (A twelve line variant is common among the Western Sefaradim. The Ashkenazi version has ten lines.) The Marathi translation was made by Joseph Ezekiel Rajpurkar as published in סדר תפלת החרש The Daily Prayers translated from Hebrew in Marathi (1889), pp. 7-8.

Categories: Bedtime Shema, Arvit I'Shabbat, Morning Baqashot, Musaf I'Shabbat

Tags: 11th century C.E., 49th century A.M., אָדוֹן עוֹלָם Adon Olam, cosmological, Eastern Sefaradim, Nusah Sefaradi, Openers, פִּיּוּטִים piyyuṭim

Contributor(s): Aniruddha Walke \(transcription\), Aharon N. Varady \(transcription\), Joseph Ezekiel Rajpurkar \(translation\) and Unknown

Adōn Olam (Ladino translation from the Sidur Tefilat Kol Pe, 1891) | אָדוֹן עוֹלָם (מנהג הספרדים במזרח)

The Seder Tefilat Kol Peh was printed in 1891 in Vienna, and features a full Ladino translation of the entire siddur. The Ladino translation here is found on the left side of pagespread №145. Along with a full transcription of the Ladino text, Isaac Gantwerk Mayer has also prepared a full romanization of the Ladino.

Categories: Bedtime Shema, Arvit l'Shabbat, Morning Baqashot, Musaf l'Shabbat

Tags: 11th century C.E., 49th century A.M., אָדוֹן עוֹלָם Adon Olam, cosmological, Ladino Translation, פִּיּוּטִים piyyutim

Contributor(s): Unknown \(translation\), Shlomo ibn Gabirol, Aharon N. Varady \(transcription\) and Isaac Gantwerk Mayer \(translation\)

Adōn Olam, translated by Alice Lucas (1894) | אָדוֹן עוֹלָם (אַשכנז)

The cosmological piyyut, Adon Olam, in its Ashkenazi variation in Hebrew with an English translation.

Categories: Bedtime Shema, Arvit I'Shabbat, Morning Baqashot, Musaf I'Shabbat

Tags: 11th century C.E., 49th century A.M., ABCB rhyming scheme, עולם אדון Adon Olam, cosmological, חתימות hatimot (concluding prayers), Openers, פיוטים piyyutim, rhyming translation

Contributor(s): Aharon N. Varady (transcription), Alice Montefiore Lucas (translation) and Unknown

Stable Link: <https://opensiddur.org/index.php?cat=748>

Associated Image:

(This image is set to automatically show as the "featured image" in shared links on social media.)

Terms of Use: Be a mentsch (a conscientious, considerate person) and adhere to the following guidelines:

1. Properly attribute any information in the description of this archive page to the Open Siddur Project (<<https://opensiddur.org>>).
2. Clearly indicate the date you accessed this page and in what ways, if any, you modified it. (If you have adapted the work, let us know so that the contributor might consider endorsing your revision.)
3. Provide the stable link to this archive: <<https://opensiddur.org/index.php?cat=748>>.
4. Indicate that the original page was shared under the Creative Commons Attribution-ShareAlike (CC BY-SA) 4.0 International copyleft license. (To redistribute or remix this page in any format, modified or unmodified, you must refer to the terms of the CC BY-SA license.)

Additional Notes:

- The views expressed on this page and in these shared works represents the views of their creator(s) and do not necessarily represent the views of the Open Siddur Project's developers, its diverse community of volunteer contributors, or its institutional partners.
- We strongly advise against printing sacred texts and art containing divine names as these copies must be regarded with reverence, complicating their casual treatment and disposal.

- If you must dispose of a printed sacred text (one containing Divine Names), please locate the closest genizah (often established by a synagogue) and contact its custodians for further instructions. We also recommend using Morah Yehudis Fishman's Prayer for Adding a Work to the Genizah.

Support this work: The Open Siddur Project is a volunteer-driven, non-profit, non-commercial, non-denominational, non-prescriptive, gratis & libre Open Access archive of contemplative praxes, liturgical readings, and Jewish prayer literature (historic and contemporary, familiar and obscure) composed in every era, region, and language Jews have ever prayed. Our goal is to provide a platform for sharing open-source resources, tools, and content for individuals and communities crafting their own prayerbook (siddur). Through this we hope to empower personal autonomy, preserve customs, and foster creativity in religious culture.

· ויהי נעם אלהינו עלינו ומעשה ידינו כוננהו: (תהלים צ:יז)

"May the pleasantness of אֱלֹהֵינוּ our elo'ah be upon us; may our handiwork be established for us — our handiwork, may it be established." (Psalms 90:17)

